

BATTLE IS ON

Decisive Engagement Believed to be in Progress

Chinese Reports Say Kuropatkin is in a Serious Dilemma

London Post Announces That a Naval Engagement Took Place Off Port Arthur Friday--Japan Denies Rumor of Crushing Loss Announced Earlier in the Week.

London, July 16.—Severe fighting is reported all the way from Tang Chi to Hai Cheng and it is thought that the great decisive battle is being fought. Kuropatkin is directing the Russian forces. Japanese transports have been reported off Yinkow, and rumor has it that the Japanese contemplate the landing of another army there to assist in the operations against the Russian position.

IN A BAD FIX.

London, July 16.—A most sensational report from Chinese quarters this morning states that General Kuropatkin is in a serious dilemma. He is said to have inadequate forces with him to properly cope with the Japanese and is accordingly retreating from point to point, hoping against hope that he made this by avoiding a serious clash, eventually reach a point where heavy reinforcements will reach him and thus rescue him from the position, strategically weak, in which he is at present. If this remarkable statement is authentic Kuropatkin's present stand near Tas Chi Kao must indicate that the Japanese have him in a tight fix, from which he can only escape by fighting.

NAVAL BATTLE.

London, July 16.—The Shanghai correspondent of the Morning Post, calling under date of July 15, says: "A naval engagement took place today off Port Arthur."

OFFICIAL DENIAL.

Tokio, July 16.—The war office denies the report current for several days past that thirty thousand Japanese were killed or wounded in an unsuccessful attack on Port Arthur.

SAKHAROFF REPORTS.

St. Petersburg, July 16.—Lieut. General Sakharoff, who is with General Kuropatkin's force, reports that the Japanese during Thursday and Friday occupied many positions, and placed cannon on the heights near the north of Kai Ping. There have been but few skirmishes thus far.

SERIOUS

Are the Charges Made Against Viceroy Alexieff in the New Chang Dispatch.

London, July 16.—The Times correspondent at Berlin sends a dispatch this morning received from New Chwang, which contains serious charges against Viceroy Alexieff. The Viceroy appears to assert his right to retain a considerable body of troops around his person at Mukden, much to the disgust of the officers, who are said to refrain from mutiny only from a consciousness that the representative of the Czar cannot be gotten rid of by violent means. The Viceroy countermands military orders and detains reinforcements by inspecting them. The telegram declares that "only the immediate recall of Alexieff can ameliorate this undesirable state of affairs, since at this juncture the Viceroy's presence in the far East is not only useless but positively dangerous."

STEAMERS SEIZED.

London, July 16.—(Bulletin)—A dispatch received this afternoon reports that the British steamer Mailacea, has been seized by the Russians in the Red Sea and taken to Suez. No reason for the act is given.

Berlin, July 16.—The North German Lloyd liner Prinz Heinrich has been stopped by the Russian volunteer cruiser Smolensk in the Red Sea and compelled to surrender 31 sacks of letters and 24 sacks of parcels destined for Japan.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH DEDICATED

Concord, N. H., July 16.—The beautiful new church edifice, a gift from Rev. Mary Baker G. Eddy, the discoverer and founder of Christian Science, to First Church of Christ, Scientists, of Concord, N. H., was dedicated today. The cost of the handsome granite building is about $200,000.

ADJUDGED INSANE.

Lancaster, O., July 16.—Mrs. Mary Kinsler, of Hocking township, has been adjudged insane. The affidavit was filed by her husband, Christian Kinsler, and Dr. Reese furnished the medical testimony. She is 42 years old and has five children. This is the third attack she has suffered from insanity.

CHARLES HALL INJURED.

Mt. Vernon, July 16.—Charles Hall, a farmer residing west of Brandon, met with a severe injury, while unloading hay. The rope broke and the heavy fork fell, striking him in the eye. An ugly gash was cut over one eye and also in the cheek beneath the eye.

The British Admiralty has just issued a compilation of statistics showing that the navy of England is built fighting strength, than that of any and maintained at a lower rate of cost, in proportion to the effectiveness of its other first-rate power.

Yerba mate is a tea prepared from the roasted and pulverized leaves of an evergreen forest tree found in Southern Brazil and the neighboring region. It is said to have all the best qualities of coffee and tea as a stimulating health beverage, without the disadvantages of either. It is much used in Paris hospitals.

GEN. MILES

Writes a Letter Congratulating Judge Parker and Predicts His Triumph at the Election.

Esopus, N. Y., July 16.—Judge Parker received a letter yesterday from General Nelson Miles. The entire letter is "General Miles' own handwriting and is as follows: "Safety for the good ship of state is of the first importance. "At a time when a material crisis is pending, when democratic institutions are in peril, when great evils should be eradicated, when important political questions must be decided, it is fortunate that the Democratic party has given to the public as a candidate for president one in whom the great council of representative men has every confidence, and we have the best of reasons for believing that the confidence will be confirmed by the intelligent and patriotic people of the country.

"We all do know that the instincts and training of the judge are to hold in sacred regard the constitution and the full interpretation and full execution of law. Hence we believe that under your administration its law will be administered with fidelity and integrity. I believe you will be elected and thereby have an opportunity of rendering our country a service of immeasurable value that will redound to the honor of the Democratic party and the glory of the republic."

FIGHTING FOR LIFE.

Columbus, O., July 16.—The state board of pardons adjourned until Monday at the conclusion of arrangements on the application of Charles Stimmel, the Dayton murderer, for commutation of sentence. The consideration will be taken up again at that time and unless favorable action results, Stimmel will be electrocuted next Friday morning.

TINY

Baby Weighing Twenty One Ounces is Placed in an Incubator.

Atlantic City, N. J., July 16.—A tiny baby boy weighing one pound and five ounces was born yesterday to Mr. and Mrs. Newlin Johnson of Burlington. Mr. Johnson and Dr. Brace at once took a special trolley car to Camden, and arrived in that city in time to catch a train to the seashore. They had the baby with them and wanted to place it in the incubator for babies. The tiny bit of humanity, barely alive, was placed in a special compartment. It is the smallest child ever admitted to an institution of this kind. Dr. Siegel said that the baby will live.

No More "Chug-Chug!"

Columbus, Ind., July 16.—Dore Ogden of this city, has just received letters patent on a muffler for gasoline engines, especially automobile motors. It is said that it does away entirely with all explosive noises, and the exhaust gas is sent out in a continuous current instead of in puffs.

Judge Burk's Will.

Cleveland, O., July 16.—The will of the late Judge Stephenson Burke has just been filed. No inventory or estimated value of the estate was stated, although it is known that Mr. Burke's fortune amounted to several millions of dollars. Large bequests are made but all to members of family or deceased. The bulk of the estate goes to Mrs. Burke.

LETTERS FROM REPUBLICANS

Hundreds of Them Promising Support to Judge Parker.

Esopus, N. Y., July 16.—Judge Parker spent the morning trying to catch up with the correspondence. The telegrams are falling off, but the letters are in greater and greater number. The marked difference from ordinary campaign congratulations is that hundreds of the letters are from Republicans. These letters are not given out for publication. They are a remarkable proof of the effect on the electorate of Mr. Roosevelt's policy of turbulence and unrest. They do not come from politicians, but from business men and workmen, thanking Judge Parker for being the kind of a man they can vote for.

WELL NO. 6 A FAILURE.

Utica, July 16.—The Utica company, after meeting with uniform success in its first five wells, reports well No. 6 too light to be profitably operated, and so the casing has been drawn and the hole has been plugged. This well was on the Fred Sperry lease.

FLYER

Collided in a Fog With a Freight

TWO MEN OF THE TRAIN CREW KILLED INSTANTLY

But None of the Passengers Was Seriously Injured.

FAST TRAIN A DOUBLE-HEADER

Fourteen Freight Cars Piled Up in a Bad Wreck Near Emporium, Pa., This Morning.

Olean, N. Y., July 16.—The north-bound flyer on the Pennsylvania railroad running at full speed, collided, head-on, with a freight at Shippen, a small station six miles north of Emporium, Pa., at 4.30 this morning. The passenger train had two engines.

Fireman Krosseler and Fireman Sullivan of the passenger engines, were killed. Three trainmen were badly hurt. They are Baggageman George Jensen, Engineer Parker and Brake-man Slocum. None of the passengers was seriously hurt.

The front engine of the flyer and the freight engine telescoped each other, while the second engine on the flyer was thrown on top of them. Fourteen freight cars were wrecked. Wrecking crews were ordered from Buffalo and Renova, and a train was sent from Olean to transfer passengers. The cause apparently lies with the freight in pulling off the side track when the flyer was due. A dense fog prevented the engineer from seeing the freight until too late.

MR. BRYAN ON THE PLATFORM

Discusses Each Plank and Has Much Good To Say of Party's Pronouncements.

Lincoln, Neb., July 16.—W. J. Bryan made public the following statement relating to the Democratic platform, adopted at St. Louis:

"The plank on imperialism is positive, strong and satisfactory to the entire party, and this question becomes the paramount issue of the campaign. "The tariff plank is good, but it was made so on a close vote in the committee, and largely against the opposition of Mr. Parkers' adherents. The plank which was voted down favored a wise, conservative and business-like revision, made with due regard to existing conditions. The committee thought that these qualifying words emasculated the plank and left it so weak as to give no hope to tariff reformers.

"The anti-trust plank is a good one. It demands the enforcement of the criminal clause of the criminal law against the trusts; it demands the abolition of rebates and discriminations, and it demands the withdrawal of the interstate commerce privileges from trusts when once convicted. "The plank is infinitely superior to the Republican plank, and with a president who desired to destroy the trusts would be a sufficient plank, but as this trust plank was also substituted by the full committee there is reason to fear that it may not be in keeping with the ideas of the candidate. "The labor plank is all that could be desired. It declares against government by injunction; it favors arbitration and the eight-hour day, and denounces the methods that have been resorted to in the Colorado strike, but as these planks were added in the full committee, some uncertainty exists as to the candidate's position. The platform declares in favor of the reduction of the army. Upon this the committee was unanimous. The secretary reported a plank in favor of an increase of the navy, but this was stricken out in the full committee.

"The platform has a plank in favor of the enlargement of the scope of the interstate commerce commission and in favor of irrigation. The general clauses of the platform excite no dispute, and the appeal against the introduction of a race issue ought to have weight with the sober, thinking Americans.

"On the whole, the platform is good. From a Western standpoint its greatest defect is that it makes no mention of the money question. An attempt was made to secure a plank opposing the melting of the silver dollar, opposing the asset currency and branch banks, and expressing a preference for the United States note (ordinarily known as the greenback) over the bank note, but, having refused to put in a gold plank, the committee was not willing to have any phase of the money question alluded to. While the motion to reaffirm the Kansas City platform was voted down, there was a considerable vote in favor of its reaffirmation, and the Western members of the committee, together with a few from the South, stood together and secured enough changes in the platform to make it a presentable document and worthy of the support of the party."

New Spring Power.

Hartford City, Ind., July 16.—William Roberts has received a patent on a spring power which he has. The power is said to be as near perpetual motion as anything is possible to be, and its extent is only limited by the size of the spring. All that is in sight is the spring, but the wheels are inside, and after winding up the wheels the power will go until the spring wears out. Mr. Roberts is the inventor of an airship and will use the power in his airship.

The ceremony was performed at New York City by Rev. Dr. Huntington and was witnessed by a few friends and relatives of the contracting parties. Col. Wheeler was a former president of the Logan Natural Gas company. He resigned his position on account of ill health on the first of the year and went to Buffalo to live.

Thompson of Ohio State University, was nominated for member of the board of education at large.

MEET TONIGHT

To Say Whether Sympathetic Strike will be Called

Outlook of Adjustment of the Trouble is Not Bright

Donnelly Emphatic in Stating the Position of the Men While the Packers Say "It's Up to Donnelly"—Effort to Arbitrate--News of the Strike Situation.

Chicago, July 16.—Armoar secured 90 negro laborers, which was the greatest importation during the night. All saloons along Ashland avenue in the stock yards vicinity have been closed.

President Donnelly and his co-workers met this morning to deliberate upon the latest phase and to act upon the last letter of the packers which, in effect, refused arbitration, unless wages shall be left free to be reduced if the arbitration board so declared. It is said that Donnelly's reply today will be of a conciliatory nature and a request for another conference with the packers.

TROUBLE IS FEARED.

Chicago, July 16.—The letter of the packers to the union leaders last night to which a reply was made this morning set forth the fact that there could be no change of position on the part of the employees and inviting the union men "if they thought fit," to make answer by noon today and definitely therein to state just what they expected to do. All packers' claim they are filling contracts promptly. Fire engines, hosecart and fire insurance patrols with full quota of men were sent to the stock yards last night and today to increase the fire protection there over Saturday and Sunday. This action was accepted as indicative of the fear on the part of the packers and insurance men that a stage of the strike had been reached where widespread disaster may be expected.

BUSY AT KANSAS CITY.

Kansas City, Kas., July 16.—Schwarzschild and Sulsberger, joined the other packers today in slaughtering. Only Fudd Bros., a small concern, is idle. Otherwise the situation is unchanged. Union teamsters are beginning to agitate the question of a sympathetic strike and there is some talk of packing house engineers going out. No perceptible change today in the prices of fresh meats.

UNCHANGED AT OMAHA.

Omaha, Neb., July 16.—The situation is unchanged today. Both sides yet hope that the Chicago arbitration plan will succeed. About 100 strike-breakers have been turned away, the strikers say, no violence has been reported. The stock receipts are slightly heavier, but little killing is done at the plants.

Chicago, July 16.—Pessimism was the characteristic note struck by the employees of the stock yards this morning when they awoke to the realization that the packers were really determined to abide by their declaration as to the proposed methods of arbitration the great meat strike.

Whether the packing trades' central body will call a sympathetic strike will be determined at a special meeting tonight.

Nearly twelve thousand men employed in the various trades at the stock yards and belonging to thirty unions, are connected with this organization. These employees are not bound by any agreement with the packers. Additional depression was lent to the situation when it became known that Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, had departed from his hotel after declaring that he was going out of the city. This was taken to infer that Mr. Gompers had concluded that there was nothing further to be gained in the preliminary negotiations between the conflicting parties. Michael Donnelly, president of the Butchers' Union, is emphatic in his statement of the position of the men. He said: "We will die fighting before submitting to arbitration as proposed by the packers."

Their system would mean the complete annihilation of trade unionism at the yards."

On the other hand the packers say, "It is up to Donnelly."

Negotiations for peace in the stock yards strike are practically at a standstill and the strike will continue until one side or the other abates something of the demands made up to the present time.

Both sides are anxious for a peaceable settlement, but the stumbling block to a final adjustment is that neither side is allowed to dictate the basis of the arbitration.

The packers considered Mr. Donnelly's reply to their proposition but it proved unsatisfactory and the union officials were notified that it would be impossible to reach an agreement along the lines suggested by Mr. Donnelly.

In their answer to Mr. Donnelly the packers declared themselves willing to arbitrate but stipulated that the arbitration should include the entire scope of the strike and not be subject to restrictions or limitations of any kind. This communication of the packers was identical to the one sent Thursday to Mr. Donnelly's and to which his counter proposition of Friday was a reply.

With the reply of the packers was sent a note to Mr. Donnelly notifying him that they would be ready for his answer today and that if he desired another conference with them they would be pleased to meet him in another effort to reach a basis of arbitration. No arrangements have as yet been made for another conference but the reply of the unions to the last note of the packers will be sent today, after which Mr. Donnelly will leave for St. Louis where he will address a mass meeting of strikers on Sunday afternoon. Mr. Donnelly's last proposition to the packers was as follows:

"All grievances to be submitted to arbitration; all strikers to be reinstated in a body; men employed by the packers since the strike may be retained if use can be found for them; the temporary wage scale to be that in effect previous to May 28. This means that unskilled labor is to be paid, pending the decision of the arbitrators 13 1-2 cents instead of 15 to 17 1-2 cents, the price paid since May 28."

The following is the reply of the packers to the proposition of Mr. Donnelly:

All grievances to be submitted to arbitration; the strikers to be re-employed as rapidly as places can be found for them preference to be given the strikers in the order of their applications for work; all men now at work to be retained and the temporary wages to be in accordance with the schedule in effect at the time of the strike.

The allied trade unions at the stock yards are becoming restless and unless a settlement is reached in the near future they may decide to stop work in sympathy with the men already out. The members of the allied crafts at the yards in this city number between 14,000 and 15,000 and a majority of them belong to the unions. A mass meeting of these men will be held tonight when the question of their quitting work will be discussed.

TWENTIETH CENTURY MIRACLE

A GREAT PLACER MINE

Right in Central Ohio and it's the richest mine the world has ever known.

This mine is located in the picturesque Licking Gulch, only 2 1-2 miles south of Newark. It consists of 410 acres, every foot of which contains gold of purest quality and in enormous quantities.

This property has been thoroughly investigated and experted by the best and most experienced mining experts in the country, all of whom were amazed at the great quantities of gold contained therein, of the rare purity of it, and pronounce this the greatest and most profitable gold mine ever discovered.

Read what the Government Says:

April 26, 1904.
United States Government Assaying Office report on Concentrates from LICKING MINE:

Gold Assayed	$968.04 per ton
Silver Assayed	7.98 per ton
Total	$976.02 per ton

This has never been equalled.

Read What the Experts Say:

Dr. J. B. Sloane, experienced assayer and miner (owner of two fine gold mines in the West, after making an exhaustive and careful examination of the property of the Licking Gold Mining Co. reports as follows:

Pay dirt at grass roots assayed $3.32 per ton
Pay dirt at depth of 2 to 4 feet assayed $9.56 per ton

AN AVERAGE ASSAY OF $6.44 PER TON.

Such a rare and vastly wealthy mine was never before heard of in mining history.

NOTE—Dr. Sloane made the above reported assay from the pay dirt which he himself dug up from many places throughout the entire 410 acres of this property and he says that the Licking Gold Mine is the richest ever discovered in this country.

Our Proposition

THE LICKING MINING CO., of Newark, Ohio, (named after beautiful Licking Valley) offers to the citizens of Newark, of the State of Ohio, and from other States, the greatest opportunity for an absolutely safe and profitable investment EVER PUT BEFORE the American public.

Note--We Can Prove Every Word we Say.

We offer for sale a limited number of shares of the capital stock and which is non-assessable.

Only enough shares will be sold to pay for necessary machinery with which to start the plant.

The latest improved machinery, including Hoyts Amalgamator, has been ordered and is now being made for the Licking Mine, in Los Angeles, California.

This machine will handle 300 tons of pay dirt each day, which will average from $3.32 to $9.56 in gold to each ton.

The cost of operating this machine is less than $50.00 per day.

More machines will be added to the plant as there is enough pay dirt there at 600 tons per day to last ONE HUNDRED YEARS.

No such opportunity for profitable investment was ever offered before in this or in any other country.

NOTE.

Placer Gold Mines throughout the entire West, from Mexico and California, to Alaska Gold Fields assay from 10c and 50c per ton and pay enormous profits at these figures.

The famous Mountain Mine assayed 15 to 5c per ton and paid its stockholders Eighteen Million Dollars ($18,000,000) in three years time.

Compare these figures with the figures and proposition of the Licking Mining Co. and you will be astonished at the difference.

The Officers of the Licking Mining Co.

JAMES CORWINE Waverly, Ohio President.
EDWARD MILLER, Columbus, Ohio Vice President.
J. E. STINGER, Newark, Ohio Secretary.
DR. B. COLEMAN, Homer, Ohio Treasurer.
GEO. W. SLATTER, Alaska, now of Newark, Ohio,
..... General Manager.
JOHN A. LOTZ, Detroit, Mich. General Agent.
S. L. JAMES, Newark, Ohio, Counselor.

The company will be carefully and economically managed and in the interests of all the stockholders. For further particulars call on or write J. E. STINGER, or JOHN A. LOTZ, General Agent.

Remember This Proposition.

We ask you to come to the mine and see what we have to offer

If any one doubts what we say in this article go with us to the mine to which we will cheerfully conduct you, and after such investigation you fail to find the facts as are represented on this page, we will pay your expenses of such investigation, whether you come from Maine or from California.

The machinery will soon arrive and be put in operation, in the meantime you have such an opportunity for a profitable investment never before heard of.

For particulars regarding the capital stock, phone or write to JOHN A. LOTZ, general agent, or call at the office, Suite 1, Scott Building, Corner Third and Church streets, entrance on Church St., Phones.

The Trust Question.

The Democratic platform deals intelligently with the trust question in three of its planks: First, in regard to the tariff, when it protests against the further protection of "infant industries" that have become the greatest combinations of capital the world has ever known; second, when it promises to punish attempt on the part of trusts and combinations to control production, fix prices and restrict competition; third, when it demands enlarged powers for the Interstate Commerce Commission, the suppression of rebates and transportation discriminations, the strict enforcement of existing legislation against trusts, and the enactment of such new legislation as may be needed to suppress them.

The Dividing Line.

(New York World)
It is not surprising that the Republican leaders are perturbed over the political situation. Such a swift and wonderful transformation as was produced by Judge Parker's telegram to the St. Louis convention has never before been witnessed in American politics. Its magical effect has taken New York out of the list of doubtful states, and with it Connecticut and New Jersey. It has made Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin debateable. It has welded the border states to the solid South. Already it appears that the personality of the candidates will have far more to do in dividing and aligning the voters than will the platform of the conventions. The independent and conservative citizens asked for the antithesis of Roosevelt, and they have it in Judge Parker. No two candidates were ever more opposite in their conception of the functions and duties of the government or in their temperaments and habits of thought.

Judge Parker invites the support of every voter who conscientiously believes that President Roosevelt's policy of imperialism, militarism and imitation Europeanism is dangerous to the republic. His character, training and judicial experience for a score of years affords an ample guarantee that he could not be guilty of the erratic and reckless acts that have marked President Roosevelt's administration.

The independent voters, whose final choice decides presidential elections, have asked for a sane, safe and sagacious opposition. The nomination of Judge Parker and the almost unanimous vote by which his courageous declaration for the gold standard was sustained by the convention show that this requirement has been completely met. As the candidate and leader of the Democratic party, and in his own person and character, Judge Parker embodies the protest of the people against the multiplying evils, abuses, adventures and shocking violations of the constitution at Washington.

The dividing line between the parties is no longer marked by old names or by monetary delusions. It is conservative and constitutional Democracy against radical and arbitrary Republicanism. And upon this paramount issue there ought to be no doubt as to the decision of the American people.

Governor Cummins of Iowa sizes up the political situation accurately in saying: "The Republicans have got something to do." All the Republican leaders are fully realizing that they have no walkover this year.

New York World: A cut of 12 1/2 per cent in the wages of 25,000 cotton-mill operatives in Fall River—the second within a year—has been ordered. Will Henry Cabot Lodge permit this? What is the sacred Dingley tariff for, anyway?

BEST TICKET

THAT COULD HAVE BEEN PUT IN NOMINATION.

Prominent Columbus Democrats of State Reputation Express Views on the Ticket and Outlook.

Columbus, O., July 16.—The calm afterthought among Ohio Democrats following the work of the St. Louis convention is distinctly congratulatory. With this lapse of time from the convention the general comment now is that Parker and Davis form the best ticket that could have been nominated under the circumstances and a ticket that has not only the hope, but the expectation of election. Indeed, it is surprising to note the tone of confidence among representative Democrats in central Ohio, at least, in view of these nominations. Geographically the ticket is a logical one and politically likewise, since the presidential nomination recognizes the pivotal states that must be carried in order to insure victory, while the vice presidential nomination recognizes the loyalty of the Democratic solid South. From a personal point of view, it is pointed out that the ticket could not be improved upon, inasmuch as Judge Parker appeals strongly to the people in the dual capacity of jurist and farmer, while ex-Senator Davis represents the great world of commerce and industry. The average Democrat in this neck of the woods is convinced that it would be hard to find a better alignment of candidates on a presidential ticket.

The correspondent of The Advocate has sounded prominent Columbus Democrats of state reputation on the ticket and the outlook. The views expressed will substantiate the foregoing statements. Among those interviewed are three former Democratic candidates for governor, who, with the others mentioned, are quoted as follows:

Thomas E. Powell—It has been Parker from the outset. I have anticipated his nomination for six months. It was the wisest that could have been made, and his running mate, ex-Senator Davis, completes a ticket that is well-nigh ideal from the standpoint of true Democracy.

Lawrence T. Neal—The ticket contains the elements that bring victory. Both in regard to the nominations and the platform the party has put its best foot forward.

Horace L. Chapman—I was in St. Louis when the ticket was named. I felt sure then that it was a winning ticket and am still more confident of it now. Parker and Davis will be elected.

G. H. Bargar—Judge Parker is the natural leader for present conditions and stands upon a platform inviting the support of all Democrats. He will draw heavily on the independent vote and in my opinion will be elected.

James Ross—No better ticket could have been nominated. The convention was stormy, but I am confident that those who were delegates are now practically a unit on the proposition that the work accomplished as a whole was for the good of the party. The ticket gives the most substantial hope of victory that the national Democracy has enjoyed since 1892.

Webster P. Huntington—The platform is a plea for human liberty; as such it will be heard in the campaign and endorsed at the polls, resulting in radical changes in our domestic and foreign policies in the direction of self-government. The ticket is the strongest that could have been named, will unite the party, draw heavily on the independent Republican vote and be elected, if present indications are at all reliable.

George P. Okey—I have been particularly interested in the platform and can give it my enthusiastic endorsement. It is noticeable that it is a much stronger and more expressive, though still conservative platform, than any adopted by any state convention. It is evident that Democratic councils are at their best when all the nation is represented. The ticket is admirable and looks to me like a winner. It is a strong combination, personally, politically and geographically.

George J. Karb—Parker and Davis will carry Franklin county, and it would be no surprise to me if they carried Ohio. They will certainly do so if the remainder of the state will do so as well as the capital. I am more than satisfied with the ticket and the platform.

Congressman DeWitt C. Badger—These nominations and this platform place the Democratic party in a fair way to re-enter the promised land. Judge Parker is a strong man from every point of view and when elected will make a president of whom all Americans will be proud. Ex-Senator Davis strengthens the ticket and the platform deserves and will receive the support of the united party.

Samuel L. Black—The old Republican criticism, that "Democrats always make mistakes," doesn't go this time. Judge Parker is the ideal man to defeat Roosevelt. The ticket and platform are more than satisfactory; they are splendid evidences of Democratic unity and promises of Democratic victory.

Henry J. Booth—I relieve the work of this convention has done more to solidify the Democratic party than any other nominations or platform could have done. The whole country ought to be indebted to this convention for what it has accomplished, since the best good of every party contributes to the welfare of the whole people. The combination of interests presented by our ticket and the principles of Democracy as expressed in the platform must convince the country that the party is worthy to be entrusted with the affairs of government.

Allen W. Thurman—The East has joined hands with the West and the solid South in this convention, and the nomination of Parker and Davis in connection with the platform adopted is in my opinion almost a certain guarantee of a sweeping victory next November.

Colonel James Kilbourne is out of the city, but it is well known from his expressions prior to the convention that both the ticket and the platform will meet his heartiest approval. The campaign in Ohio is to be an aggressive one, conducted on the theory that Parker and Davis may carry the state.

I started using Doan's Kidney Pills which I procured at Crayton's drug store. Their effect was really wonderful. They drove away the pain out of both of my sides—there was not a trace of it left. JUSTICE

DISCHARGED FRANK DAVIS AT THE HEARING SATURDAY.

An Affidavit Showing That the Defendant Was in Washington at Time Horses Were Taken.

Frank Davis, the old soldier, who was arrested a few days ago on the charge of horse stealing, had his hearing before Squire Atcherly Saturday morning. Mr. C. L. Flory, attorney for the defendant had received an affidavit from the superintendent of the Soldiers' Home at Washington, stating that the accused, at the time the alleged crime was said to have been committed, was an inmate of the sick ward in the hospital. This affidavit was introduced as testimony at the hearing Saturday morning and the prisoner was discharged.

GORMAN

TO BE CHAIRMAN OF DEMOCRATIC NATIONAL COMMITTEE.

Parker and Davis Are Agreed on His Selection—Conference Scheduled For Next Week.

Elkins, W. Va., July 16.—James M. Guffey and ex-Governor Robert E. Pattison of Pennsylvania, are to be taken more into the councils of the National leaders of Democracy. Senator Arthur Pue Gorman of Maryland, will be the chairman of the National committee and, together with Judge Alton B. Parker, the presidential nominee; David B. Hill, William F. Sheehan, Charles F. Murphy and Senator Henry G. Davis, nominee for vice president, will meet in New York City next Tuesday morning to outline the policy of the campaign.

The following Saturday the Pennsylvania politicians will meet with these leaders at Bedford Springs, Pa., to discuss informally the letters of acceptance of the candidates. It may happen that all the work on the letters may be completed in New York at the first meeting, but another conference will be held at Bedford Springs on the date indicated.

Senator Gorman wrote a letter to Senator Davis, indicating that he would accept the position of chairman of the National committee and upon the highest authority it can be stated that the original request for Mr. Gorman to accept the place came from Judge Parker himself, backed by the New York managers who are of the opinion that a master stroke for Democracy was played and executed when Senator Davis was placed upon the ticket. His popularity in his state is such that West Virginia will be found safely within the Democratic

WHEN WE GO BATHING.

Smart Caps, Stocks, Girdles, Parasols, Sandals and Other Items.

Among bathing accessories headgear is by far the most important feature of the minor fashions this season. Hats and caps made of unperishable materials are shown in a variety of exquisitely dainty forms. Of course the handkerchief squares will always be more or less popular for caps, as they are by far the most practical head covering in existence. This year shows them in very decided figures and finished with a pert Alsatian bow of huge proportions. The style is universally becoming and is sure to be a boon to the girl who is conscious of her appearance. After the first dip the big bow is as fresh looking as ever, for it is made of still grosgrain ribbon securely wired to hold it in shape.

A triumph was achieved by the girl who instituted the stock collar with the bathing suit. Bathing stocks are made over water soaked canvas which is specially prepared for the purpose, and the oftener it comes in contact with salt water the more pliable it becomes, but never under any circumstances does it lose its shape. Waterproof silk embroidered with washable floss in cross stitch has the smartest effect imaginable.

Touches of color so cleverly arranged as the wide hand embroidered girdles show are unusually attractive. By the way, these new belts supplant the braid girdles with long ends that were always impeding the swimmer. Three large flat brass buttons fasten the wide girdles in the back or in the front, as the wearer prefers.

All sorts of linen and cotton parasols carried with bathing suits form a novel feature of the season's fashion whims.

Some of these are very gorgeously embroidered or appliqued with cretonne roses suggestive of the Pompadour period, while others have monograms done in heavy cotton thread.

Entirely new are the white canvas sandals with wide tape thongs. These indispensable little articles claim an advantage over the old style sandals in the freedom they allow and are very smart in black and white combined. The cork soles are light and offer ample protection from sharp pebbles and shells.

It is quite the correct thing now to include a sweater in your seashore accessories. All the fashionable girls are wearing them after they come out of the water, and for those delightful little scampers up and down the beach they are simply ideal. The very smartest one is the boy's sweater knitted of very heavy wool, the kind with a turtle neck that slips on over the head. One should have the sweater several sizes larger than one's other garments, so it will go over the wet bathing suit easily.—Designer.

A Gown of the Season.

The needs of the river and the shore loom up largely in fashion at this season. The feeling is insistent for gowns of attractive and original quality, although they must be of practical value. Quite complex enough is the accompanying design in a pale mauve linen trimmed with a white and darker mauve spotted cambric, the collar and cuff finished with a tiny white hem-stitched frilling. The shade hat of white straw is simply but attractively draped and rosetted with white and mauve spotted soft ribbon.

Golden Slipper.

To make this attractive drink allow for each guest peel from one lemon, which should be cut in long pieces. Put in a tall, thin glass, add half a bottle of ginger ale, shaved ice and fill with seltzer water. Two straws are placed in each glass. Then the lemon peel is wound about so as to be the length of the glass. The knob formed by the stem end is caught on the rim. The peel must be cut as free from tough white inner skin as is possible.

The Table Attractive.

The setting of the table for a summer dinner is a most important subject of consideration to the housewife. The fickle appetite engendered by warm weather must be catered to in every possible manner, and an attractive table set with spotless napery, sparkling glass and silver and decorated with fresh flowers, will go far to stimulate it.

TURNED AROUND

BY ELLIOT WALKER

"Beulah!" shouted Enoch Haley, coming in from the road. "Better be shuttin' the blinds."

Mrs. Haley hoisted her corpulent figure from the Shaker rocking chair, where she was napping away the sultry afternoon, and blinked irritably.

"Where's my specs?" she inquired, gazing about with a cavernous yawn. "On yer forehead, ez usual. Hurry up now."

"Tain't goin' to rain, is it? The rumblin' an' growlin' is miles off. Enoch. What a man you do be fer allus scrabbin' round, wantin' things shut up long afore thar's any need out. House 'll be hotter'n Tophet. It's bad enough now."

"You come out here an' see," cried her husband excitedly. "Stan' in the front door an' look over on them mountains. What d'yer think of sech a sky ez thet?"

"It does look alarmin'," assented Mrs. Haley, shading her eyes with a fat hand. "But ter me it ain't a rainy sky. Still, it may do somethin'. The air sounds boller, don't it? 'Ceptin' the thunder, thar ain't no sound."

Three miles to the west the rounded domes of the Taconic range billowed blackly against a dull brassy background. Here and there rolled slowly great masses of cumuli, fringed with threatening, dark hued edges, the white, piling bulk shining in the strange light, which now faded to a dreary copper shade, while the steady, menacing cannonade increased in volume, shaking the hills and reverberating through the hushed valley. It seemed as though the very leaves were listening.

"If sech a thing ever happened in this section, I should say a tornadoer was on us," whispered Enoch anxiously.

"I feel prickly," returned Beulah, rubbing her fat hands, "but thet's nothin'! Tornadoer! Sho! We don't hev 'em round here. Waal, I guess I'll be movin'. It's darkenin' up. What ails the cat, Enoch? Jest look at her tail. Come along, Penny. You ain't afeerd of a shower, air ye?"

Suddenly, like an ink blot blotting out the face of nature, a dreadful dusk fell on the waiting landscape. The pair stood petrified for a brief second, seeing only three frightful, whirling shapes bounding toward their little home.

A crackling, ripping sound pierced their ears; a thunderous burst, a myriad of flashes, then a howl of weird, demonic import.

"Git inside!" yelled Enoch, grabbing his paralyzed better half in an agony of horror. "It's right on to us."

"I can't see!" wailed Mrs. Haley, shutting her eyes.

"Feel, then!" screamed her husband, bundling her before him. "The cellar! Yer can't? Inter the bedroom, then. Under the bed! Quick! Oh, Lord! Lord!"

Beneath this refuge they clasped each other close in palpitating prayer. Penny, glaring and spitting, dashed after them.

"We've lived happy, and we'll die tergether, Enoch," moaned Beulah, her lips against his grizzled cheek.

Then came that awful moment when the air devil swooped down, clutching the cottage in its pitiless claws. After that swirl of chaos they lay still, hearkening weakly to the fading roar.

"I'm alive!" breathed Enoch faintly. "Be you?"

"I—I s'pose so. Hadn't orter be." Beulah moved first one limb, then another.

Mr. Haley crawled from beneath the high, old fashioned bed and pulled cautiously at his wife. "Come!" he urged. "Me an' you an' the cat's left anyhow. Mebbe we kin git out of the ruins."

"What be ye?" panted Beulah, pressing her hands to her disordered gray locks and gaining breath. "Thar's some plasterin' down, an' the picters are all askew, but I don't see no ruins. The house is stood up."

"Let's go ter the back door an' peek out arter the critter." Haley spoke aimlessly, staring about. "I feel all turned round."

Together they staggered to the kitchen, both weak from shock, and gazed out blankly.

"Guess I'm crazy," muttered the old man. "Here we be at the front door, an' yit an' yit!"

"Tain't either," interrupted Beulah, feeling the jamb. "It's the back door, an' here's the kitchen." She stopped in astonished hesitancy.

"But that's the road, an' the mountains, an'—oh, now ain't that too bad? See all them apple trees over in the pasture tore out by the roots an' laid down in rows, like so many corpses. Let's go to the back of the house an' see about the hencoops. P'raps the barn's standin' too."

"This is the back of the house," insisted his wife, rubbing her spectacles for a better view. "Enoch, you're turned round."

"I should say I was," replied Mr. Haley pettishly, "an' so be you. Wont we never see straight agin? It's this a-way, Beulah. The things we see last is fixed in our eyes, an' if we're standin' in our back door we're seein' things thet ain't. Thet's it!"

Mrs. Haley slowly recovered from this statement. "Let's set on the steps awhile an' be thankful we kin see anything," she invited. "Mebbe our sight will get straightened out an' things will come to us gradual. Shut yer eyes an' rest 'em. Then we kin see things ez they be, mebbe."

"Thet ain't a bad plan," agreed Enoch, seating himself and immediately acting upon this advice. "I'm goin' to imagine I'm observin' the barn an' henhouse, an' when I opens up I probably will. I keep seein' them apple trees, though," he added after a moment's trial.

Three men, hurrying to the worst scenes of disaster, paused in amazement at sight of the old couple, sitting with clasped hands and closed eyes.

A tall neighbor stepped forward solicitously. "Are you blinded, Mr. Haley?" he inquired. "This is Marvin Lennox. Can we help you?"

"Guess not, Marvin," responded Enoch, quivering his eyelids for a rapid glimpse and promptly screwing them up again.

"Blinded? No! Our sight's set—an' we see things back end to. We're hopin' ter git it right agin soon. Here we be on our back steps a-lookin' the wrong way," Beulah groaned.

The man stared, then broke into a hearty laugh. "Of course you are," he chuckled. "Why, the cyclone has lifted your house right up, turned it around and set it square on its foundation." He gave them each a hand.

"Get up!" he added. "Come out on the sidewalk and see for yourselves."

Mr. and Mrs. Haley stood on the walk and winked in bewilderment. "It be, fer a fact."

Getting Even With Martin.

Martin Hobbs was a man of uncertain temper, but of such importance in his native town that the lash of his tongue was borne with patience by those to whom he grudgingly ministered in his capacities of iceman, plumber and janitor of the town hall.

In the course of his duties as janitor he reduced almost to the verge of tears a young woman who asked for the key of a room in the town hall where certain records were kept.

Martin knew that she was writing the history of the town, but he did not propose to strew her path with roses. "Lockin' and unlockin'," he grumbled as he began fumbling in his pockets, "potterin' and putterin', fussin' and fagetin', and what does it amount to when all's said an' done? Anybody ast ye to write a history? Who's agoin' to read it? Here's your key, and mind you fetch it back and lay it on that table if I'm not here."

The town assessor was at work where he heard this ungracious address, and when the young woman returned the key he said indignantly: "Martin outdid himself in rudeness this morning, I should say."

"Oh, well," said the young historian, "he felt a little cross and had to grumble; that's all."

"Never your mind," said the assessor cheerfully. "I'm going to make out his tax bill today, and I shall assess him for seven more hens!"

First Briton in India.

The first Englishman who is known for certain to have come out to India was, according to a writer in an Indian paper, a certain Thomas Stephens, a member of a well to do Wiltshire family and an Oxonian, who landed somewhere near Goa about the year 1579 and spent forty years in Jesuit missionary work in Goa and the neighborhood. Stephens not only succeeded in mastering Marathi and Konkani, which were the languages spoken by the majority of the people on the west coast, but left behind him among other works in Marathi of literary merit the "Purana," an epic, and it is in his capacity as the author of this that Stephens' name is best known among the west coast inhabitants.

The poem contains over 11,000 stanzas of four lines each. It narrates in a lofty style the events that led up to the establishment of the Christian religion in India from the creation to the ascension of our Lord, who figures as the hero of the epic.

FRUIT CANNING.

Useful Points in the Handling and Sealing of Glass Jars.

The jars must be prepared with a scientific conscience. First test each jar to see if it is water tight. Keep each jar with its tested cover and rubber by itself, so when you are ready to fill with the fruit you are sure it is right. After cleansing and testing, sterilize jars, covers and rubbers by bringing to the boiling point in water. Rubbers should never be used the second time. The small cost of a new rubber is more than compensated for in the entire lack of risk, for rubber will deteriorate by use and time. Have all the needed utensils ready at hand, using only porcelain or granite ware and silver spoons.

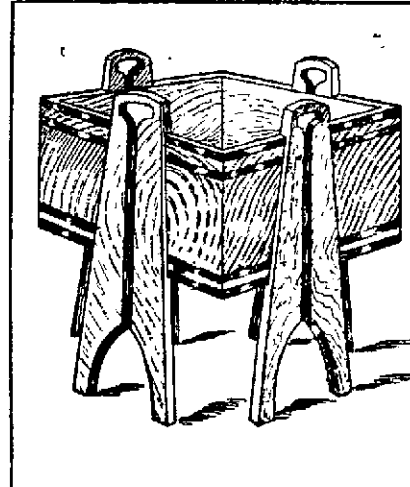

Neither acid, nor alkali should be used with fruit, as the acid may combine in a dangerous way. Stand the jars in hot water while the fruit is cooking. Fill and seal one jar at a time. Empty the water from the jar, place on a folded cloth wrung out in hot water or stand in a pan with a little hot water to prevent any danger of breaking. A silver spoon in the jar while filling also helps to carry off the heat and save the glass. Fill to overflowing and pass a silver spoon around the sides of the glass to let all air bubbles escape. Wipe off the edges carefully, fit on the rubber and screw down the cover tightly. Set each jar upside down on the table, free from drafts.

When cold, rescrow down the covers, as glass contracts in cooling and the cover can be tightened. Wipe off with a clean cloth, and if there is no leakage or loosening of the cover place in a dark, dry fruit closet. If the cellar has any tendency to dampness do not put the fruit there. Carefully choose the closet to hold the fruit.

The amount of sugar used in all canning and jellies is a matter of taste, as sugar does not affect the "keeping" qualities of the fruit.—Table Talk.

For Plants Out of Doors.

Plants for piazza and front lawn decoration during the summer often lose half their effectiveness from the manner of their setting. The round tub so commonly seen is usually not the best. Palms, large ferns, shrubs and small trees of various sorts often look better in a square box. Especially is this true of the round trimmed bay trees that are so handsome for outdoor use.

The square tub also seems rather more susceptible to a little decorative treatment, as shown in the cut. This, however, should be only just enough to break the severity of hard and plain lines and never anything fanciful enough to distract attention from the plant itself.

Lemonade and Lime Juice.

There is nothing more satisfactory, usually on hot days, than good lemonade, or "lemon squash," as our British cousins call it. One lemon to one pint of water; very little sugar is best. But when one is forty miles from a lemon a harmless substitute may be made from citric acid, either pulverized or in crystals, using lemon extract for flavoring. No ill effects can result from using this acid in such small quantities as to make tart a cooling drink or pudding sauce, for it must be remembered that this is the acid found in the fruits of the citron family, the lemon, lime, orange, grapefruit, etc., and used in moderation is healthful.

For some people a drink in which there is a suggestion of bitter quenches thirst more effectively than anything else. A tablespoonful of the commercial bottled juice of limes with a dash of calisaya is very refreshing, or just enough dandelion wine to flavor a glassful of water.—Exchange.

Left Overs.

Cold string beans make an excellent salad. Add a teaspoonful of chopped onion to a cupful of beans, salt and pepper to taste. Cut a small slice of bacon into dice and fry, add half a cupful of vinegar and pour over the bean while hot.

To prepare string beans with cheese melt a small piece of butter in a frying pan, add the cooked beans, milk, according to the quantity of beans, salt to taste and then scatter in a thick layer of grated cheese and cook ten minutes.

Lobster a la Newburg.

Melt a tablespoonful of butter in a saucepan and stir in half a tablespoonful of flour. Stir until smooth and add a cupful of cream, stirring it in gradually. When the cream is hot add two pounds of lobster meat cut into small pieces, salt and cayenne to taste. Finally add the beaten yolks of two eggs and serve immediately.

To Protect the Luster of Silver.

To keep little used pieces of silver bright without frequent polishing they may be coated with a thin solution of collodion varnish diluted with alcohol. The evaporation of the spirits leaves the silver coated with a transparent covering which is not noticeable. The application is made with a soft brush.

"GOLDEN RULE" JONES

Anecdotes of the Late Mayor of Toledo.

STOOD ON HIS HEAD IN PUBLIC

An Instance Where He Practiced What He Preached—Athletic Feat in a Fire Engine House—How He Sang Himself Into Office—Dislike For Titles.

The late Samuel Milton Jones, the "Golden Rule" mayor of Toledo, O., was an enthusiast in neighborhood settlements for the betterment of the condition of the poor, says a Toledo dispatch to the New York Evening World. He was a frequent lecturer for the societies having those charities in charge and was the esteemed friend of such persons as Miss Jane Adams of Chicago and of Jacob A. Riis.

To attract a crowd so that he would be able to convince them by his argument, Mayor Jones was in the habit of doing some startling things. More than once he stood on his head in front of the hall in which he was to speak. That feat collected the crowd. Then he would use his argument to convince or convert them.

On several occasions Mr. Jones acted as police judge and then put his golden rule theory into practice. Instead of sending a man to the workhouse for getting drunk or committing some misdemeanor the mayor would give him a fatherly lecture and dismiss him with the injunction: "My dear man, the spirit is good, but the flesh is weak. Go forth and sin no more." And, strange as it may appear, not a single man whom Mayor Jones treated in this manner has been arrested since or seen in the police court at Toledo, says the Cincinnati Enquirer.

He said that every man of them who promised him that they would go forth and make men of themselves have kept their word, while if they had been sent to the workhouse they would have lost all pride and ambition and would probably have dropped to the level of common criminals. Another incident clearly shows how earnestly Mayor Jones was imbued with the principles of the Golden Rule.

He was making an address one day at Golden Rule park to a delegation of workmen who called to congratulate him on his overwhelming election. Among the big crowd was a little ragged and bareheaded boy about eight years old. The little fellow had heard much about Mayor Jones and was trying to wriggle to the platform so as to get close to the mayor, but the crowd paid no attention to the ragged little fellow. He carried a tiny flower in his hand, which he desired to present to the mayor as his little mite and tribute of respect and esteem.

The mayor's keen eye soon caught a glimpse of the child trying to push his way to the front through the dense crowd.

"Open up there and let that child through," said the mayor rather testily. "He wants to hear and see what is going on just as well as you do. That child is just as good in the eyes of God as your child or my child. The little fellow is not responsible for the rags he is compelled to wear, but the social conditions are which make it impossible for his parents to clothe him as well as you and I may be able to clothe our children. It is just such boys as this one who produce the men who spread the light of truth and reform the world."

Mayor Jones then reached down and gently picked the little fellow up and placed him on a chair on the platform alongside of him so that he could see and hear everything.

The mayor said to the child: "My little man, you have just the same right here as my child or the millionaire's child. Because your clothes are torn it does not mean that your little heart cannot feel for humanity. Some day, my little man, you may be teaching us all true principles of sociology."

This conduct was what won the hearts of the crowd and the mayor was tendered an ovation. This was not done on the part of the mayor for effect. He was really an impulsive man, but had great determination and force of character. He really thought the ragged little boy was being jostled about because he was poor, and Mayor Jones' heart swelled up until he could bear it no longer. This only goes to illustrate how he won the hearts of the people.

Hand over hand, with his body as rigid as the muscles that maintained it, Mayor Jones once moved silently and gracefully up the heavy brass rod leading from the sleeping quarters of the fire boys at engine house No. 3, in Toledo, from the engine room floor below, and only stopped ascending when his hand touched the roof, two floors from the ground. Try as they would the half dozen healthy firemen could not come nearly up to Jones' record as a hand over hand climber, says the New York Times.

These athletic sports occurred at the Central fire station, the mayor having dropped in to pass the time of the day en route to affairs of state. There was nothing the mayor enjoyed more than some exercise which would put the brain of a man, and it pleased him to be able to lead and to watch the firemen try to follow. The brass rod is the fireman's stairway—coming down, but the mayor made it his going up, something the men rarely attempted, except when "battered."

The mayor's grip was wonderfully strong, his great broad hands were well muscled and well trained. The mayor preferred running or walking down town to riding, he preferred to sleep in the open air, and hence upon his back porch.

ORDINANCE

REGULATING USE AND SALE OF FIREARMS, ETC.

Wisely Passed By City Council and Enforced By Officials To Be Copied By Columbus.

City Auditor Frank T. Maurath is just in receipt of the following communication from Mr. John T. Barr, city clerk of Columbus:

"The Fourth of July has just passed but has left its sad recollection in the way of accidents and deaths that occurred on that day.

"Our officials have been somewhat agitated the last year as to what is the best way to regulate and remedy the danger and having heard that your city has been very successful in the way of controlling the use and also the sale of firearms that are dangerous, we would be very glad to obtain a copy of such ordinance as we feel it would be of great benefit to us in providing an ordinance for that purpose.

"Trusting that we may hear from you at your earliest convenience I remain respectfully,

"JOHN T. BARR, Clerk."

Mr. Maurath answered Mr. Barr's letter promptly and sent him a copy of the ordinance regulating sale and use of firearms, etc., within the city limits.

It is quite a compliment for Columbus to seek advice from Newark on this matter and the officials are to be congratulated for enacting said ordinance and the Mayor and the police department are deserving credit for enforcing the measure.

On the fifth day of July a list of Fourth of July accidents was printed, showing the casualties as follows: Dead, 25; injured, 1,877; property loss, $177,800, and ever since the list has been growing.

Nearly every city in Ohio has a number of serious accidents but Newark, thanks to her Mayor and the police, had not a single serious accident and no property loss due to Fourth of July "celebrations."

The people of Newark enjoyed a sane Fourth, consequently no distressing accidents.

OBITUARY

MRS. DAVID THOMAS.

Mrs. Rosella R. Thomas, wife of David Thomas, one of Newark's best known citizens, died on Friday at her home, corner of Ash and Cuckingham streets, after a lingering illness. Besides the husband the deceased leaves two sisters. The funeral will take place from her late home on Sunday afternoon at 1 o'clock and the interment will be made in Cedar Hill cemetery.

IN MEMORIAM.

Helen Cordray Davis, the beloved only child of G. W. and Edith Cordray of this city, and cherished wife of Thomas W. Davis of Nashville, Tenn., departed this earth-life, after an illness of several months, at the home of her parents, Sunday evening, July 11, 1904, aged 26 years. Just as the sun went down, amid the holy calm and peace of a summer Sabbath evening, to rise in splendor on another world, the sun of her earth life set, amid the peace born of resignation to the will of God, to rise again, in immortal glory, in a better world than this!

Only 26 short years was the earth span of this beautiful life, thus transformed into the heavenly, and yet, how much those fleeting earth years meant, to those who knew and loved her—and, who that knew her, did not love her? Daughter—wife—mother—all these wonderful and tender relations were embraced in her young life; and she fulfilled them all, naturally and perfectly—for she was a true child of Nature. Delicate and frail of body, her tender, spiritual nature could not endure the rough blasts of this earth-life and she was transplanted, like a beautiful, delicate flower, to bloom in fadeless beauty, in the deathless Paradise of God. A woman of rare womanly nature; of innate sensitiveness and refinement, whose soul always pointed unerringly to duty, as the polar star of her life, she exhibited the Christian graces in her character, as naturally as the rose sheds beauty and perfume on the summer air. Having led the Christian's life, hers, also, was the Christian's death.

For her, death had no terrors—but, it was hard to leave life so young and with so much to make life attractive! Hard to leave those who loved her so well; hardest of all, perhaps, to leave the sweet young babe, who had not yet learned to lip a mother's name! But it was God's will, and, because it was, with the simple, child-like faith and trustfulness that characterized her whole life she bowed in sweet submission. Bidding the loved ones a tender "good-by" for time, she looked forward with unswerving faith, to a glad reunion in eternity. She cannot, indeed, come to those whose hearts long for her so unutterably today—but, they can go to her! "Earth hath one link less—Heaven, an added charm!"

Prompt, Easy Recovery.

The greatest thing in the world — A Mother's Love; the love she lavishes on her children; the love her child should have for her; without this love she could not endure the agonies incident to childbirth; appreciative of this love, Mother's Friend was devised to lessen the pain and anguish of childbirth, that her love might not be strained to the breaking point. Mother's Friend does all this and more—it enables the fond mother to speedily recuperate from the labors of maternity, enables her to regain her lost strength, preserves her youthful lines of beauty, and makes pregnancy her crowning joy without any thorns to mar it.

Mother's Friend

is applied externally, is most harmless in its consistency, most happy in its results, and is of such merit that no case of labor should be conducted without its use. It is a liniment for massage of the abdominal muscles during pregnancy, and by its use their tonicity and power of contraction is greatly enhanced, enabling them to sustain the great strain brought to bear on them at this time. It is Mother's Friend. The name should be enough to recommend it to all who expect to be mothers.

THE PEOPLE ALL

In Chorus Cried, Give Us Newbro's Herpicide.

This word of late has been in everyone's mouth, and many are wondering what the word signifies, though no one has yet been found, who will deny that NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE does the work. Well, for the information of thousands of people who like to know all about a good thing, we would say that HERPICIDE means, a destroyer or killer of "Herpes." Now "Herpes" is the family name of a disease caused by various vegetable parasites. A similar microbe causes dandruff, itching scalp, and falling hair; this is the microbe that NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE promptly destroys; after which the hair grows. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.
